

Web Site Service

This service allows publishing on your own Web site (hosted by Condo Manager) all owners' account statements, financial statements or any other document you want to make available to your owners. They will have access to all information they need when they need it.

Discover all advantages of the Web Service

Give a better service to your owners and be more productive at the same time

- Using our service means that all owners have access to more information about their association and their own accounts at any time without having to contact your office. Thus, they get better service without having you intervene to give them information they need. This is a major time savings for both of you!

Personalize your Web site and create a closer relation and better understanding between you and your customers

- The Condo Manager Web site may display your own corporate logo, your colors and can even use your own domain name. Nobody consulting the Web site will ever know that the site is hosted by Condo Manager. It will be totally indistinguishable to your clients.

Owners' account statements on the Web

- Reduces the number of calls from your owners and tenants to obtain this information from your employees
- Increases the speed of the payment process

Suppliers, banks accounts, other receivables accounts statements on the Web

- Consult online account statements (e.g. owners, suppliers, bank accounts, receivable accounts, etc.)
- Makes all this information available to the directors of the board, the association's manager, and reduces the phone calls which would be required without the Web service

Financial Statements on the Web

- Making financials statements available or unavailable is your choice
- Make them available
 - to your employees only
 - to your employees and the directors of the board only
 - Or to owners, directors of the board and your employees, reducing the phone calls or faxes to your office

Web Site Service

You can publish any document on the Web

- Publish the ownership act or other similar documents and avoid useless phone calls or faxes about these documents

Profile information on the Web

- All owners' profiles are accessible from the Web with a personalized password - Owners can see and correct their own profile information when needed - All modifications made by the owners automatically update your Condo Manager database
- This makes keeping your files up to date easier than ever

CC&R Violations and Architectural Change Requests

- Allows owners to send architectural change requests and report CC&R violations to the management team
- Allows owners to see their CC&R Violation history (closed and opened violations) in their profile
- Allows owners to see their Architectural Change Request history in their profile

Phone directory accessible to owners

- Provides phone directory displaying resource people with their respective responsibilities - It gives directions to the appropriate resource person for all phone calls or direct interventions

Complete phone directory accessible to the managers

- Allows you to consult all profile information for owners, tenants, payables and receivables
- It contains the complete data, such as phone numbers, email addresses, emergency contacts, etc.
- Also, you benefit from a function permitting an inter-association search

Sending Emails

- Send emails to one or several owners from the Web site

Web Site Service

Surveys

- Create surveys to get the opinions of the owners about any subject, e.g. paint color or budget usage, etc.
- Each owner can vote one time on each survey
- Results are automatically graphed on a web page that can be accessed by every owner
- You can add as many surveys as needed on the web site
